La Puente. (at Homena).

Loopholes in the face CC bearing on the covered way.

Narrow windows seen along it from the channel -

The northern part of the channel front descends towards the Morro. The mortar battery is in long successive steps.

The gun turrets behind the curtains rise above the curtains - are probably bomb proof & provided with a parapet for musketry on the roof.

The ditch is every where very deep - about 40' & well defended.

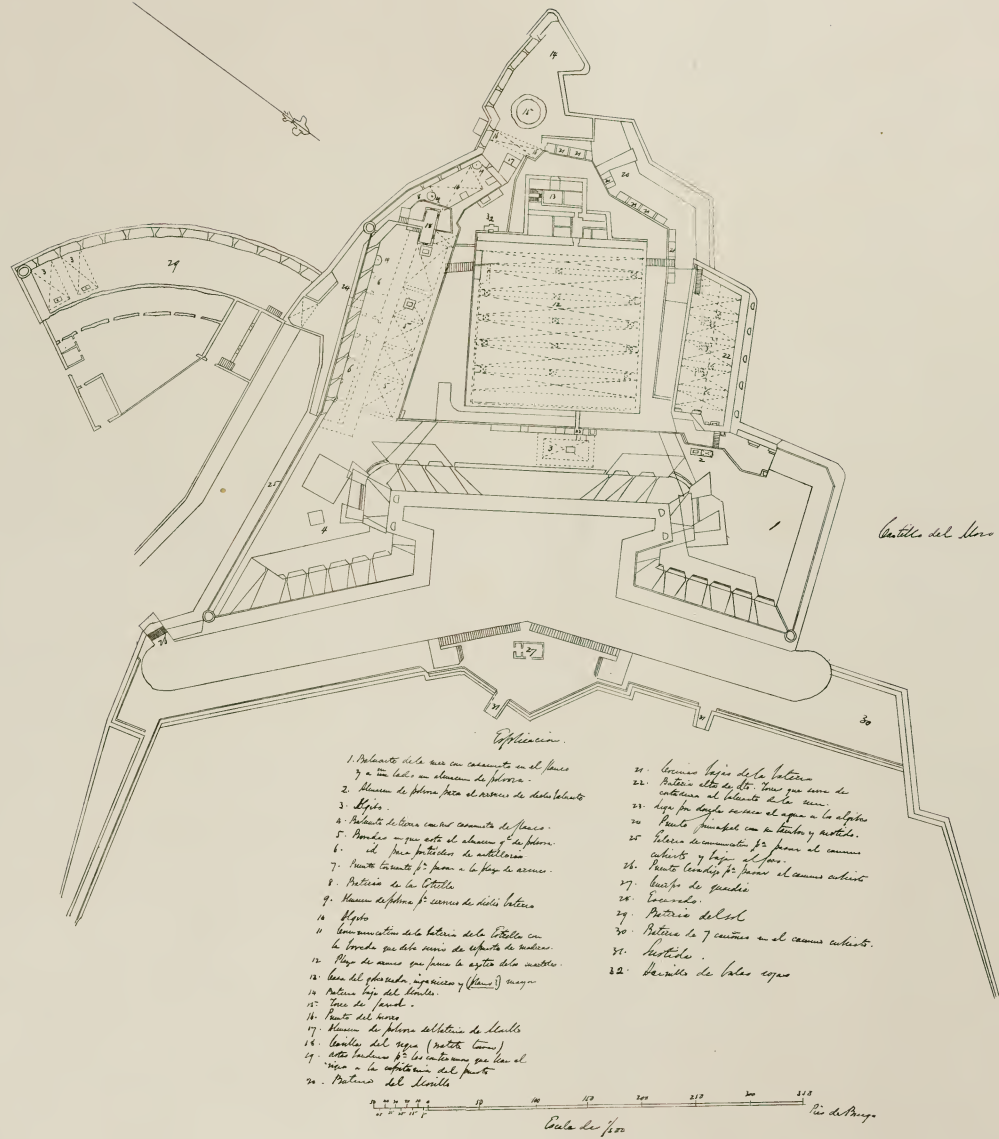

All the parapets seem to be made of limestone rock - the ditches up to a certain level are cut out of the natural rock

The ditches of the demilines are quite narrow at bottom but much wider at top

The two fronts are assumed to form two sides of a hexagon
